

ALZHEIMER'S CARE AT ORCHARD VIEW MANOR

The demands of caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's Disease or related dementia can be overwhelming. Providing safety, comfort and assistance with daily activities is often a 24-hour job. Unfortunately, there often comes a time when the demands associated with Alzheimer's Disease or dementia exceed what even the most loving family member is able to provide. Assessing the needs of a loved one can be incredibly difficult but when safety or manageability becomes an issue, long term care may be the best choice for both loved one and family. That's when Orchard View Manor can help.

As one of Rhode Island's few facilities in the East Bay recognized for Alzheimer's care, Orchard View Manor is specially staffed to provide personalized care for those with cognitive impairment. Our team is dedicated to helping each person live their lives to the fullest and our WanderGuard system ensures residents' safety. From research to placement, Orchard View Manor's team of caregivers will help those with Alzheimer's Disease or dementia - and those who love them - every step of the way.

SPECIAL CARE FOR SPECIAL PEOPLE

Those with Alzheimer's Disease or dementia often seem to lose a part of themselves but they also retain many of the attributes that make them unique. A pet lover for instance, may still be moved by the visit of a puppy, or a musician may remember how to play a beautiful melody. Orchard View's staff has been specially trained to work with each resident to help them realize their fullest potential, while at the same time, managing the problems associated with cognitive decline. Our memory impaired residents have their own "neighborhood" with special activities and dining options unique to them. Of course, they are also welcome to join in any of the activities and meals enjoyed throughout Orchard View. Staff has undergone training from the Alzheimer's Association and is adept and compassionate in helping families and residents deal with the challenges that dementia and Alzheimer's Disease present.
